

College Credit for your LifeWays Training

You may earn college credit for LifeWays Early Childhood and Human Development through Ashland University in Ohio. Information is available through the Columbus Campus' Professional Development Department. Their website is www.ashland.edu/pds.

The additional cost is $225 per semester credit hour. Three credit hours may be awarded per session; total of twelve credit hours possible (can be counted as graduate or undergraduate elective credits).

Ashland University credits transfer readily to other institutions of higher learning.

Meg Freeling is the adjunct instructor at Ashland to coordinate the awarding of the college credits, based on a review of the student's learning and portfolio work, and evaluations by the LifeWays trainers.
